

PAYING FOR YOUR CHILD'S CARE

Mental health and disability support services can be expensive.

Schools and communities do not cover the costs of many services.

Some government programs like Medicaid and PeachCare can help you pay for services.

Insurance companies are required to pay for services for mental health and autism just like they pay for services for physical health.

This section provides information about the following ways to pay for care:

- Signing Up for Medicaid and PeachCare
- Medicaid and Autism Spectrum Disorder