Heir property project @ work in Darien

The southeast Georgia city of Darien is a model of community revitalization and Georgia Appleseed is playing an important role. 45 local property owners recently attended the informational seminar, "Heir Property in Georgia: How to Preserve Your Family's Land" presented by Crystal Baker, Georgia Appleseed Heir Property Project Manager. Crystal described the participants as "extremely interested and very appreciative. It was so productive they asked us to come back to present again." The program was co-sponsored by the City of Darien and McIntosh SEED (Sustainable Environmental and Economic Development).
