ABOUT US

Since 2005, Georgia Appleseed has led the fight to reform the Georgia systems and institutions that perpetuate poverty, racism, and other forms of bias and discrimination. Through our School Justice and Housing Justice initiatives, Georgia Appleseed advances justice for all Georgia's children, with a particular focus on kids most impacted by inequity: Black and Brown children, children experiencing poverty, LGBTQ+ children, children with disabilities, and children in foster care. Justice requires that every child has access to strong, nurturing schools and a healthy home.
